Discussion with Table Talk Pies/ Chacharone Properties:

- All attendees introduced themselves, their positions and their organizations.
- K. Lamoureux provided a summary of the mission, purpose, goals, and trainings of the Worcester Job Fund.
- H. Kokkinis expressed appreciation for the ongoing collaboration between Table Talk Pies, Chacharone Properties, and workforce development and community partners.
- P. Dunn provided an overview of the area proposed in the project and noted that the new facility would be an economic boost for the area and would clean up a brownfield site that is in close proximity to vulnerable populations. H. Kokkinis provided a visual presentation of the current parcels and a mockup of the proposed building. H. Kokkinis recognized Chacharone Properties for their assistance in making the project possible and their recent support in creating a 30,000 sq. ft. freezer and an additional dry storage facility nearby. H. Kokkinis described Table Talk Pies' desire to remain in Worcester to support the 70% of their employees that live in Worcester, with 47% of them within a mile of the new facility. J. Chacharone shared details on the construction of the facility and the use of highly efficient and environmentally friendly materials and installations to complete the design of the building. H. Kokkinis and J. Chacharone provided a summary of the timeline and expected date of completion for the project.
- M. Cruz acknowledged appreciation for Table Talk Pies' commitment to remaining in Worcester. M. Cruz inquired about the number of workers at Table Talk Pies that are seasonal and/or temporary. H. Kokkinis stated that approximately 100 employees are seasonal and/or temporary. H. Kokkinis noted that The Little Store will remain in Kelly Sq. to honor the family's presence in the neighborhood.
- I. Gonzalez-Webster inquired about the name of the temporary agency used by Table Talk Pies and described common challenges for workers who are paid through temporary agencies, including wage theft and worker abuse. N. Nova-Duran acknowledged I. Gonzalez-Webster's concerns stated that Table Talk Pies has made it a priority to shift more of the workforce to permanent status and has gone from 170 permanent employees to 300 permanent employees in recent years. N. Nova-Duran also stated that the temporary agency utilized by Table Talk Pies, Personnel Staffing Benefits Solutions, has set up an on-site presence at Table Talk Pies to improve communication and worker experience. H. Kokkinis stated that PSB provides fair working conditions for all employees.
- J. Brunelle suggested forming a collaboration between Table Talk Pies and the Adult Learning Center as a pipeline for interested students.
- F. Taylor inquired about the average wage for factory floor employees. H. Kokkinis stated that $17/hr. is the average wage for the factory floor, excluding management, but with the bonus incentives this could rise to an average of $18/hr. H. Kokkinis stated that employees begin at $0.50 above minimum wage and will make 125% of minimum wage within 2 years of employment. N. Nova-Duran stated that Table Talk Pies have supported students who pursue ESOL and provide financial assistance, when possible.
