Continuations:

3) Demolition Delay Hearing, 280 Highland Street: Michael Theerman stepped down as chairman, and requested Tom Johnson to assume the chairmanship. Atty. John Shea requested clarification regarding Mr. Theerman’s decision not to chair the meeting. Mr. Theerman explained that he is a member of the Hammond Heights Neighborhood, an organization that does not support any other uses for this neighborhood, except single housing residential uses. He stated that his decision to step down was taken in order to avoid the perception of being biased against this project. Mr. Shea responded that this demolition delay hearing had nothing to do with a different use, since the building will continue to be occupied as a residence. Afterward, Sally Jablonski also recused herself from the meeting, citing conflict of interest, as she is a client of Atty. John Shea. Mr. Shea proceeded to make a presentation regarding this project and indicated that the demolition of the existing garage was necessary in order to build a handicapped ramp in the back of the building. Mr. Shea stated that this location was the preferred choice due to its minimal impact on the integrity of this historic structure, and followed these statements by submitting plans showing the handicapped ramp in detail. Mr. Shea indicated that the current garage could not be repaired because the decorative cement blocks used are no longer available. Atty. Kathleen Windsor spoke in opposition of this project, and indicated that the neighbors would prefer to see this historic structure repaired instead of being demolished. She stated that she had located a company in Washington State that continues to produce this type of decorative blocks at a cost of approximately $14.00-$17.00 each. Ms. Windsor also highlighted the historic importance of this garage by indicating that 22 homes in this neighborhood have similar garages. Mr. Shea responded to these statements by indicating that the garage needed to be demolished due to safety reasons. He stated that the garage was in an advanced state of deterioration not only because of the damaged blocks but also because the roof supports were rotten and had partially collapsed, the floor was damaged beyond any possibility of repair, and the interior side of the blocks at floor level were beginning to crumble. Chris Comeaux spoke in opposition to this project and requested that the petitioner consider replacing the cement blocks with like-materials. Johanna Evans also spoke in opposition to the project and stated that this garage added an important characteristic to the neighborhood. Following these comments, Jeanice Sherman requested Atty. Shea to submit a cost estimate to repair the garage in order to consider possible hardship for the petitioner, and he agreed to do so. Tom Johnson requested Atty. Windsor to provide additional information regarding the company in Washington State that still produces decorative cement block similar to the ones found in the garage in question, and Ms. Windsor agreed to do so. Tom Johnson asked Mr. Shea if the petitioner had ever considered building the handicapped ramp in another location of the property, to which Mr. Shea responded that in fact the idea had been considered but asserted that this option was the most accessible for a handicapped person. Following these statements, Atty. Shea requested the Commission to continue the hearing to October 6, 2005 in order to allow both parties additional time to provide the information requested. Upon a motion by Jeanice Sherman and seconded by Peter Schneider, the Commission voted 4-0 to continue the meeting to October 6, 2005.

4) Demolition Delay Hearing: 24 Brattle Street. Petitioner Christine Profit made a presentation on the proposed project, and provided Commissioners with written information requested by the Commission at the previous meeting. Historical Commission, and a conversation recap regarding affect of the project on NRHP and the MACRIS status. After a careful review of the information provided, Tom Johnson made the following motion: The Commission finds that the proposed demolition and replacement of the back ell, with similar structure in size, design and materials will not be detrimental to the historical heritage of the City of Worcester. Jeanice Sherman seconded the motion, and the Commission voted 6-0 to approve the petition
