What is a Foraging Day?

Come learn together and help us collect logs, leaves, seeds, seedlings, and cuttings to bring the secret biological community of the natural forest floor into the City for our first Miyawaki forests.

What is a Miyawaki Forest?

Miyawaki Forests are small, dense, layered urban plantings in city niches that grow vigorously and help to cool heat islands, improve biodiversity, and foster climate resilience.

This event is capped at 30 volunteers - preference will be given to those who sign up as "Lead Volunteers" (who will need to arrive 30 minutes before event begins for training).
